

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

At the outset, let it be said that we have no authority to speak for either President Roosevelt or Wendell Willkie, nor have we had any recent conferences with either of the gentlemen. We just have an idea—and like any other American citizen, we have a right to rise up in meeting and express it. So here goes!

Wendell Willkie, at the last election, was the Republican candidate for President; he was defeated by Mr. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate, but not badly. The war issue—the traditional reluctance of the American people to switch horses in the middle of the stream—may have been a determining factor. Many Americans thought Mr. Roosevelt had a splendid grasp of international affairs, and Mr. Willkie, in international diplomacy, was an unknown quantity.

Considerable water has run under the bridge since then. To many people (even many who voted against him) Mr. Roosevelt has proved that he does have the capacity to deal intelligently and courageously with the international situation. And curiously enough, Wendell Willkie (in international affairs) has become one of Mr. Roosevelt's strongest supporters. In domestic affairs, however, the President hasn't been doing so well; defense production has lagged far behind schedule; strikes and red tape have seriously hampered America's program of preparedness. Even Mr. Roosevelt's most loyal supporters have wanted a strong man—at the defense helm to bring order out of chaos.

Why not, we humbly suggest, a team of Roosevelt and Willkie? Willkie may not know the finest points of international diplomacy, but he does know how to run a big business, successfully. He has proved that—to the satisfaction of both the New Dealers and his stockholders. As a power executive, he was tops. And running America's defense machine is big business—the biggest business in the land.

America's defense machinery has bogged down for lack of directing genius. Even the House Military Affairs committee admits it. Why not give Mr. Willkie the job of making that machine run, as Mr. Roosevelt wants it to run?

The run on apricots at the Drew cannery is expected to be completed Friday. Peach packing will probably start Monday.

Richard Field entertained a group of young friends at a weenie roast recently at the home of his parents on North Second street.

Jeannie Gartner of Carmel visited her grandmother, Isabel Gartner, and friends here last week.

Theta Rho girls will start the winter series of meetings on Aug. 20 instead of Aug. 6, as previously announced.

Last Rites for Roy Carman Held Monday

Funeral services were held Monday in San Jose for Roy Carman who passed away Saturday at the age of 64.

Carman, a native of Canada, was the husband of the late Clara Carman, and is survived by a son Gordon Carman, a sister, Mrs. Hugh Moffett of Oakdale, brothers, Stuart of Burlingame, Paul of Palo Alto and Hugh of Campbell.

Interment was private.

Knowles Entertain Boys from Moffett

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knowles entertained eleven boys from Moffett Field Sunday afternoon and evening. A buffet supper with home made peach ice-cream met with enthusiastic approval. The boys said it was the first private home in which they had been since entering the service and were so appreciative, well behaved and cooperative that their hosts have applied for another group for this Sunday, for which Mrs. Frank Richardson will be assisting hostess.

During World War I many homes in Campbell were opened to boys from Camp Fremont and it would be well worth repeating according to Mr. and Mrs. Knowles experience.

Guests from every state in the Union and eight foreign countries registered at the California State fair in 1940. An attendance of 800,00 is expected for this year's exposition, opening Aug. 29.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

- Q. What happens if I suddenly need the money I put into a Defense Savings Bonds?
- A. You can cash your Bond at any time, after 60 days for the full amount paid, plus any interest due you.
- Q. Do many Bond owners cash their Bonds?
- A. No. People want to help arm America against all attacks. In many cases, people are putting every cent they can spare into Defense Bonds and Stamps. Some are doing this by asking employers or banks to withhold part of their salaries in order to buy these Bonds or Stamps for them.

Purmorts Return From 10-Day Trip

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Purmort returned Monday from a camping trip of ten days beginning in the Trinity river region. They made one stop at an attractive little place near Weaverville called Rocky Pines, from which they could see some snow on the mountains. They reported the scenery being turned upside down in the search for gold. They journeyed on through the Trinity alps, Mt. Lassen, over to Reno and back by Lake Tahoe.

Having crossed the San Joaquin valley it seemed "cool" when they reached the Santa Clara valley.

Mrs. Dick Karns of San Jose spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Bryce Whitmore, and family.

The Ira Abbotts have just finished redecorating the interior of their charming Alice avenue home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan and sons, John, Jr., and William, of Mt. Eden, were in Campbell Saturday.

Ralph Martin, manager of the local theater, was among local folks in attendance at the Salinas rodeo Friday.

Executive Board Of High P.T.A. Enjoys Luncheon

Members of the Campbell High School P.T.A. executive board, who enjoyed a dessert luncheon at the home of Mrs. Anthony Jurras on Tuesday, July 22 were Mrs. Fred Hilton, Mrs. Howard Smith, Mrs. Ray Wood, Mrs. W. H. Grattan, Mrs. Clarence A. Warren, Mrs. Frank A. Jacobson, Mrs. Alfred Hansen and Mrs. E. E. Coonradt.

Outlines for the program for the coming year were completed, and committee chairmen from the group were each assigned one meeting during the year.

Rural Carriers Sell Defense Savings Stamps

Thirty-two thousand rural mail carriers are now acting as agents in the sale of Defense Savings stamps, postal officials have informed the treasury department. Demand for the stamps in sparsely settled districts caused the post office department to authorize the carriers to act as salesmen.

The stamps range in value from ten cents to five dollars. Purchasers are given albums in which they can be mounted. When filled, the albums may be exchanged for Defense Savings bonds.

Post office officials recalled that rural mail carriers acted in similar capacities in 1917 and 1918 selling War Savings stamps.

Mrs. Ralph Nelson was the recipient of a lovely gift from the women members of The Footlighters when they gave a party in her honor last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ira Grim. Games were enjoyed during the evening, at the close of which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shaves spent Tuesday in Santa Cruz.

Sheriff Emig Is Guest Speaker at Kiwanis Meeting

The Kiwanis club was entertained by two speakers Tuesday when Jack Smith, who attended Boy's State at Sacramento explained something of its workings and Sheriff William J. Emig related "Experiences and Duties of the Sheriff's Office." The accounts of each were interesting and could well have been extended had time permitted.

Hal Morton was chairman for the day.

Next week Arthur Duane, assistant manager of the American Trust in San Jose will be speaker and Roy Archibald a former member of the club will be guest chairman.

Bible School Meets Real Need In Campbell

The vacation Bible school which was started this year as an experiment has met a real need in the community and definitely warrants another next year.

The closing meeting will be for parents and adults, Friday evening at 7:30 when the children will present the program at the Congregational church.

The school has had an average of 90 children and 14 adult leaders.

Mrs. Fred Sample of San Jose has acted as superintendent. In charge of the primary group are Mrs. H. H. Byers, and Miss Helen Byers, with Mary Sue Field, assistant; of the juniors, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Klassen, Miss Eleanor Kerr and Mrs. Mabel Erickson; of the intermediates, Mrs. Alice Newcomb, Mrs. Helen Garner, Miss Marjorie Livingston, Miss Winifred Garner, Lawrence Cowper, and Jack Smith; general assistant, Rev. J. H. Bennett.

Glen Knowles On the Atlantic

Glen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knowles of Rincon avenue writes home he is now "somewhere on the Atlantic."

He has just received his fourth promotion since joining the Navy a year and a half ago.

He is cooking for the officers of the U. S. S. Long Island, a luxury liner built in 1939 and recently taken over by Uncle Sam. He is delighted with his 100 per cent electrically equipped galley. He also plans their menus and does all the buying.

Before his promotion he was head cook for 275 enlisted men on the same ship.

Glen has been on the Atlantic coast for the past year at Norfolk, Va., Charleston, S. C., Jamestown, Florida, and even into Mexico for a month.

He is very well satisfied with Navy life and delighted with the rapid progress he is making.

Aluminum Drive In Campbell Opens Today

Campbell is opening its aluminum drive today when the Boy Scouts will begin notifying households and collecting any material ready this evening but will make their real campaign on Monday.

The question of Campbell's participation in this national effort has been under consideration for several days by interested citizens, and Dr. W. R. Morgan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, arranged that the Boy Scouts under the leadership of George E. Jeffers and Berkeley Gilson would constitute the collection group. In the Cambrian district Troop 34 will work under the direction of Scoutmaster Harry Walters and assistant Paul Farnham.

As originally planned Ralph Martin, local manager of Blanco's Campbell theater, was going to have the main depository at the theater but now the Scout building will be the storage depot, although any who will be away and wish to leave their contributions may do so at the theater when it is open, or with Lowell Benson at the Campbell Cleaners.

The Scouts plan to cover Campbell with the close-in additions. Residents not visited and wanting some one to call may phone the Campbell Water company, Campbell Press, Field's store, Gilson's Market, Campbell Cleaners or the theater.

In reply to the many questions and comments as to the authenticity of this drive, the announcements by officials through the radio and press should be convincing. As to its use Fulton Lewis broadcast yesterday that many of the army restrictions prohibiting the use of reclaimed aluminum had been removed and it definitely would be used in manufacture of certain parts of planes, and also that it released new material for needed construction.

Friday afternoon a group of men from Campbell motored to San Francisco for dinner and to attend the ball game between the Seals and the Los Angeles Angels. Constituting the group were Ira Abbott, Roy Archibald, Lowell Benson, Ray Bishop, Guy Farley, Antone Ferro, Ralph Hyde, Wyland Morgan, Herold Morton, Jack Murdock and Clarence Nelson. They were publicized by having their names broadcast by the sports announcer, a friend of one of their number.

Mrs. Olive McMahan and daughter Jean, of Los Angeles, were Sunday guests at the home of the former's brother, R. H. Knappen, and family. Miss Mabel Knappen accompanied them north and will remain here for an indefinite visit. The McMahans will visit in San Francisco, Oakland, and Marysville before returning south.

KNOW FIRST AID!

A careless pedestrian, walking out from between parked cars on a down-town city street the other day was hurled to the pavement by an oncoming car. Shocked bystanders stared for a moment, then several hurried over to the prostrate figure. Holding him by the feet and under the arms, they carried him over to the curb while a call was put in for an ambulance.

That natural act of helpfulness which, in one form or another, has occurred countless times on the nation's streets and highways, was, of course the worst possible thing that could have been done to an accident victim. If none of the bystanders had any knowledge of first aid, the great benefit they could have given would have been simply to form a cordon around the injured man and keep the crowd away till the doctor arrived.

Despite the fact that in every one of the last four years more than 50,000 persons have been injured in traffic accidents in California—last years there were 10,000 more such injuries than in 1935!—acquaintance with first aid methods among motorists and the general public remains appallingly small. With traffic accidents as commonplace as they are, a knowledge of first aid treatment for fractures, broken bones and abrasions is one kind of protection every driver should carry. In many communities, Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross organizations offer free training classes in this field. Citizens who do not find it possible to attend such classes can easily familiarize themselves with printed material on the subject and learn how to apply a splint, tourniquet or bind a wound. Even if persons learn what NOT to do—such as carrying a victim by his hands and legs and thereby possibly causing a serious fracture—they and others will be the gainers by it.

Admittedly, this is not a cheerful subject. But far better to brush up on your first aid knowledge before the accident happens than stand helplessly by, smitten with futile remorse, when it does.

ARMY SHAKE-UP

The recent vigorous shake-up in the U. S. Army's high command is a long needed step in the right direction, for one of its direct results has been to place air officers in control of those areas where air power is of decisive importance.

This apparently is a first concession, possibly even a first step, toward fulfilling the demands of the many able military observers who have urged creation of an independent air army. Even if this action goes no further, the reshuffling of the army's highest officers has already strengthened the country's armed forces by placing commanders in positions to which their ability best entitles them.

A TIME TO ACT?

Across the Pacific, dreams of empire are again troubling Japan's war lords, as they see their old enemy, Russia, at bay on the European frontier and looking south they view the rich Indies and the spoils of French Indo-China. Fearful of possible reprisals if she moves, fearful of losing a golden opportunity if she doesn't, Japan is showing the familiar signs of her persecution complex. Threats declaring no nation must interfere with establishment of the New Order in Asia are followed by worried hints to determine if any nation will be so bold as to hinder setting up that order. Japan should know by now this nation opposes no order, new or old, if it shows a decent respect for the rights of others.

SAGA OF CALIFORNIA

With all its growing pains—strikes, economic upsets and political upheavals—California, during the past 50 years, has achieved such stature that most of the other states of the Union must look up to it, both figuratively and literally.

That, in thumb-nail sketch, is the saga of California told by State Labor Commissioner H. C. Carrasco in a 110-page report covering California's phenomenal growth during the years from 1890 to 1940. During the last half-century, California has changed from a predominantly agricultural state to great industrial leader—and yet is the most productive farm state in the Union. During that 50-year span, California's total labor force has increased 442 per cent, as compared to 127 per cent in the country at large.

During 1939 and 1940, reports Mr. Carrasco, California led the whole United States in number of wage earners employed in manufacturing industries. And since the defense program got under full steam, employment in California factories has doubled and trebled.

It's an amazing story, this story of California. We who live here, and are part of it, will probably have to read about it years hence, in history books, before we quite believe it.

TRAINING GIRL MECHANICS

Attracting as much interest as the first votes-for-women street parades, the first women's class in aircraft manufacture in the United States has just opened for business at Long Beach.

With the blessings of the Office of Production Management, the school proposes to turn out every six weeks a full and steady quota of feminine mechanics trained in "all types of light airplane assembly work on wings, fuselages and control surfaces."

The reasons behind the inauguration of such training for women is significant. "We estimate that within six months the reserve of men available for work in the aircraft factories will be used up," explains Don Frye, head of the Long Beach mechanics' seminary. "Some companies are planning for their labor supply on the premise that eventually 60 per cent of their workers will be women."

Only the progress of the war, with its obscure turning points and its unpredictable end, will prove or disprove that theory. Meanwhile, the training venture proceeds and similar schools, already planned, shortly will spring up at other points. If the need comes, women by the thousands will be ready to take their places in one more phase of the defense program.

WHY DO YOU READ A NEWSPAPER?

There are just three reasons why you read your favorite newspaper—profit, pleasure or escape—if we are to believe an expert.

Your neighbor, ensconced in his own easy chair, enjoying his own paper, falls into one or another of those categories, according to Quincy Howe in his book, "News and How to Understand it." And so do you. The only difference is in the emphasis.

Of course, if your neighbor reads only the funnies it's easy to pigeon-hole him in the correct group; and his wife as well, who reads only the gossip column and the recipes. But whether your preference is the front page, sports, news or editorials—you're reading for pleasure, profit or escape. Here is why, according to Quincy Howe:

"Some people want to understand the news for bread-and-butter reasons. Others for sheer self-satisfaction. And others, to escape from some personal difficulty."

Being an authority on such matters, Howe is probably right. Being just an editor printing the news, the ads and other stuff we think folks like to read, we've never analyzed it precisely. We can only say if you don't seem to bracket neatly in one of Mr. Howe's three groups of newspaper readers, perhaps it indicates a strain that shouldn't be wasted; maybe you're qualified to sit down and write a book on the subject yourself.

OUR STATE GOVERNMENT

GEORGE R. REILLY
STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

(In a new series of articles on "Our State Government," Commissioner George R. Reilly, our member of the State Board of Equalization, plans a streamlined analysis of the most important departments of state government, and their functions. The series when complete will give a comprehensive and informative picture to our readers as to how state government in California works.)

—EDITOR

The Department of Natural Resources is an important one in a state so rich in natural resources as California. There are five divisions in this department, that of fish and game, forestry, parks, mines, oil and gas. The department functions under a director appointed by the Governor. The state board of forestry in charge of forest protection and water-shed land is composed of seven members named by the Governor. The state park commission consists of five members, named by the Governor, administers some 70 state parks and historical monuments totalling 313,000 acres in various parts of California.

The state fish and game commission, composed of five members named by the Governor, has charge of fish hatcheries, game preserves and game law enforcement. It supervises the propagation and planting of game, birds and the stocking of state streams with fish; it issues hunting and fishing licenses and maintains a patrol to see that laws are observed. The state mining board is composed of five members named by the Governor and makes investigations of mines and publishes information pertinent thereto. The oil and gas division of the department supervises the drilling and operation of oil fields in the state and enforces laws pertaining to the conservation of both oil and natural gas.

Director of the Department of Natural Resources is Kenneth I. Fulton.

The Department of Industrial Relations is administered by the director of industrial relations, George G. Kidwell, appointed by the Governor. He operates with three commissions, the commission of immigration and housing, the industrial welfare commission and the industrial accident commission. The department's work includes labor statistics and law enforcement, fire safety, and a state employment agency. It has been especially active in the solution of labor trouble and the prevention of accidents in industry, housing of labor groups, particularly those of a migratory nature, and has offered extensive employment service to those of our citizens asking jobs.

Happy Dishes

He seems to be all dressed up for a party but perhaps he is going out for an afternoon stroll. Or possibly it is bedtime and he is taking his before-bed bite.

Anyway, his expression proves that he is enjoying a "happy" dish—the kind of a dish that causes little boys and girls to smile as they eat.

"Happy" dishes can be "good for you" dishes. The one pictured above furnishes milk in a delightful form. It requires no eggs, no baking and no boiling. It's a healthful old standby with some frills and a new name, and is certainly entitled to a place at the top of the "happy dish" list. Try serving it to your children. Here is the simple recipe:

Snow White with Raisin Dwarfs
1 package vanilla rennet powder
1 pint milk (ordinary or homogenized)
½ cup whipping cream
Snow white angel food cake
Seeded raisins rolled in raspberry rennet powder or pink sugar

Set out 5 individual dessert glasses. Warm milk slowly, stirring constantly. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM, (120° F.), not hot, remove at once from heat. Stir rennet powder into milk briskly until dissolved—not over one minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, into individual dessert glasses. Place a slice of snow white angel food cake in each dessert while still liquid. Do not move until firm—about 10 minutes. Chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, top each dessert with whipped cream and seven seeded raisins rolled in raspberry rennet powder or pink sugar.

THE BOOK MARK

by Marty

My dear readers, this is your Book Mark talking, and I am here to tell you that the book-of-the-minute, the book-of-the-hour, the book-of-all-times, is William L. Shirer's "Berlin Diary." Shirer was chief of the Berlin Bureau of the Universal Service from 1934 and correspondent of the Columbia Broadcasting System from May 1937 until he returned in December 1940, on leave, to the United States to write this book. The book is a simple, day to day, recording of the author's personal experiences, a chronicle of keen perception of events as he saw them in "a Europe that was already in agony and that, as the months and years unfolded, slipped inexorably towards the abyss of war and self-destruction. The primary cause of the Continent's upheaval was one country, Germany, and one man, Adolf Hitler." Most of Shirer's years abroad were spent in that country near that man. He was in Austria when Hitler took over, he saw the occupation of the Rhineland, and witnessed, or rather was on the spot when the armistice was signed between Germany and France last year.

The Book Mark, if it has been through a book, should be able to say whether it is worth while or not, and as I have been through this book twice already, and hope to get through it again, I say here and now if you wish to learn more about what is taking place behind the scenes in Europe, and particularly Germany, "Berlin Diary" is the book that will give you the information. I promise you, you will fall in love with Shirer—you will praise him for his deep loyalty to his own United States, for his keen and quick perception of events, and you will adore him for being so human and sympathetic. A few lines from the "Diary" will give you a faint idea of the author's viewpoint. "Paris, June 20, 1940. (After the Germans took Paris) The men who went down to Orleans and Blois yesterday tell a horrible tale. Along the road they saw what they estimated to be 200,000 refugees—people of all classes, rich and poor, lying along the roadside or by the edge of the forests, starving—without food, without water, no shelter, nothing. They are just a few of the millions who fled Paris and the other cities and towns before the German invaders. They fled, tearing in fright along the roads with their belongings on their backs or on bikes or baby carriages, and their children atop them. Soon the roads were clogged. Troops also were trying to use them. Soon the Germans came over bombing the roads. Soon there were dead and dying. And no food, no water, no shelter, no care.—A human catastrophe, such as even China has not experienced."

I feel I have told enough. If I say more I will spoil it for you. A greater book you cannot read.

O, My! Here I go into Dr. A. J. Cronin's new book "The Keys of the Kingdom," which is just published. Will try to tell you something about it next week.

Many Champions Appear in Ice Follies of 1941

Newest and most dazzling edition of the Ice Follies, now delighting thousands at Winterland, San Francisco, brings together many famous figure skating champions.

More than half of the principal skaters in the spectacular production have earned honors in World competitions.

Osborne Colson, still in his early twenties, won the junior championship of Canada in 1934 and the senior Canadian championships in 1935, 1936 and 1937, turning professional two years ago to join the cast of Ice Follies. Frances Claudet, of Ottawa, who is paired with him in a new double number, was champion of the famous Minto club for six consecutive years and was co-holder of the Canadian pair championship. In 1932 she competed under the Canadian colors in the Tenth Olympic games. Both Miss Claudet and Colson are gold medalists, the pinnacle of the figure skating sport.

Winners of seven important titles, Idi Papez and Karl Zwack have made appearances in more countries than any other Ice Follies stars. Three times they won the Austrian pair title; in 1933 they were European champions and four times, three of them in successive years, they were runners-up for the world title, once coming within .09 of a point of winning.

Other title winners among the Ice Follies principals include: Roy Shipstad, one time United States champion; Evelyn Chandler, another U. S. title holder; and Ruby and Bobby Maxson, Northwest Junior pair champions for a number of years.

Ice Follies has 75 of the best skaters in the United States. The blade extravaganza includes 25 spectacular numbers including comedy, colorful group numbers, and a series of thrillers.

Ice Follies tickets are available for every night, and for the July 26 special matinee, at Winterland, Walnut 0112; at Sherman Clay box office in San Francisco and Oakland, and by mail order addressed to Winterland, Post and Steiner streets, San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hodges are visiting their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weaver, this week before journeying south to Los Angeles to visit other relatives. From there they will visit points of interest before returning to their home in Salt Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Selle left the first of the week for a motor trip up the Redwood highway.

Army Needs More Flyers

Sergeant William S. Dobbs, Post Office building, San Jose, still is looking for applicants for aviation cadet appointments, he said today as he urged young men of Campbell who believe they may be eligible to contact him at their earliest opportunity.

"The army needs pilots," he said, "which means the country needs pilots. Before they're pilots they're just good men. The air corps is going all-out in its expansion program—everyone knows that. It's getting a lot of planes, but the planes are no good unless there are pilots to fly them."

"I've no doubt," he continued, "that there are a lot of eligible young men who don't realize what opportunities there are for aviation cadets. Or maybe they don't know whether they are eligible or not."

"How else can a young man learn to become an expert airplane pilot, with a highly paid job waiting for him, and get paid while he's doing it? Only aviation cadets get a break like that."

"Requirements are simple. Applicants must be over 21 and not over 27, unmarried, in good physical condition and with at least a high school education and capable of proving proficiency in certain subjects. If they have had two years of college, so much the better."

"If any young men are in doubt about their qualifications, let them come to see me, or drop me a postcard. I'll be glad to tell them whether they can become aviation cadets or not."

The Tawasi Camp Fire group of Campbell substituted a barbecue at the home of Jean Bocca in place of their regular meeting, Monday, July 21.

The girls spent a most enjoyable evening playing games and visiting, after which they were escorted to their homes by Mrs. B. Andries.

Attending the barbecue were Jean Bocca, Ruth Cousins, Mary Sue Field, Roberta Field, Doris Fields, Jane Gerrans, Norma Herring, Carol Lantz, Jean Wolf, and the guardian, Miss Helen Stray.

THE POCKETBOOK of KNOWLEDGE BY TOPPS

Mrs. W. W. Wells and daughter Diane, who have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Hattie Baugh, left this noon for their home in Los Angeles. Now—more than 12 million telephone calls a day!

THE number of telephone calls we handle on the Pacific Coast has mounted to over twelve million a day!

Each telephone call must be made to order—on a moment's notice—manufactured and delivered in a matter of seconds.

That's a big job—but it's only part of the job we're doing today as the West hits its stride on National Defense work. Add to this a program of plant additions, this year, in excess of $70,000,000 of which expenditures for new construction alone will be over $57,000,000.

We are making an all-out drive of man power, materials and money to supply the kind of telephone service that will help the Pacific Coast speed its part of America's biggest job.

Flies at 87

Mrs. Ted Ehman of Moline, Ill., is 87 years old, but her age didn't stop her from flying to Seattle to visit relatives. As a young bride, back in 1879, she and her husband made another journey, partly over the same route. That time it was by prairie schooner.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL

GIRLS PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Ruby Howes - Miss Smith

The purposes of this department are to develop as many skills and activities as possible; to encourage the principles of healthful living; to develop social motives by cooperation through team play in various sports; and to develop leadership by having girls act as squad leaders, captains and managers.

In the physical education period the girls are taught the skills, techniques and rules of the games. The program is arranged by seasons so as to develop "after school teams" such as hockey, basketball, volley ball, base ball, tennis and possibly badminton and others as the demand arises. "Sports days" are held with other schools. The girls who play on "after school teams" earn points on a participation basis. For 100 points, each girl receives a Girls' Peninsula Athletic League emblem and a block "C" for 200 points.

Instruction in dancing is also given. This year Folk and American country dances were taught. This gives the girls ability to gain grace and poise and aids in the appreciation of rhythm. Many minor games are provided such as table tennis, deck tennis, paddle tennis, horse shoes, croquet, darts, quoits, and shuffleboard, which like tennis, have a valuable carry-over into later life.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Miss Davis - Miss Thomas
The foreign languages taught at Campbell Hi include Latin, Spanish and French. The most popular of these is Spanish.

The college preparatory students are required to take two years of a foreign language in order to meet the entrance requirements of many colleges. But, aside from this, it is a pleasure, a satisfaction and quite often a decided advantage to be able to read speak and understand a foreign language. The study includes grammar and as much conversational practice as time allows.

Students study about the people who speak the language they are studying, where and how they live, their history, music and literature, and thus gain an understanding and appreciation of the people as well as the language.

Want to Help "Keep 'em Flying"?

Throughout the country young men are responding to Uncle Sam's call for U. S. Army Aviation Cadets. Above, at the New York Army Building, a pair of prospective Aviation Cadets are interviewed by officers to determine their qualifications for the flying school. One of them is obviously attracted by the national slogan, "Let's Go, U. S. A! Keep 'em Flying."

Rust Proof Skeletons

In the taxidermy of animals for display purposes in museums and elsewhere, usually only the skins are used, an artificial skeleton being made of wire. Since various corrosive chemicals are employed it has been found necessary to substitute corrosion-resistant wire like monel to prevent rusting of the wire and resulting staining of the skins.

The shortest distance between two points may be in a straight line everywhere else, but not when you climb the Pyramid of the Sun at Teotihuacan, near Mexico City. The easiest way to reach the top is by a zig-zag route over the 222 steps, and it's less tiring.

Electric Cookery is "CLEAN" as Electric Light

Millions Now Enjoy Electric Ranges!

Have a picture book kitchen, clean and bright and modern. Start right with a modern electric range. Select any one of the new models from a variety of makes. They are all good ranges. They are all priced reasonably low. And anyone of the new 1941 models will cook with all the speed you would want food to cook. Then no matter if your kitchen is painted white or some light cheerful color do not worry about the paint getting smudgy and dirty looking in a short time. Your electric range cooks with heat from glowing coils that are clean and dependable as electric light.

Millions of American women now cook the modern electric way. They like the simplicity of operation of the electric range. They like the way the top units come up to cooking speed quickly at the snap of a switch. They like the perfect broiling and roasting in the ovens. They like the automatic time and temperature controls that take care of oven dinners or baking. And they like the economy of electric cooking, too.

Why not cook the modern way...with electricity? Here in California electricity is cheap for cooking. You will be amazed at how little it costs to operate one of the new 1941 electric ranges.
